Millinery Department.

Special display of Parisian and American Styles in Millinery will take place April 1st. and 2nd. New Spring models will be shown every day after this. This department is in charge of Miss Margaret Sharpless of Baltimore. Miss Sharpless knows her art well, having six years' experience in this line.

This season's Millinery is very attractive, the shapes are pretty, picturesque, and sufficiently varied for every one to have a becoming hat, the colors are so bright, the flowers so gorgeous, so chic that choosing one's hat is certainly a pleasure.

A very fetching feature is a cornflower blue, with white pique top and facing of straw, and rolls slightly on the side. The trimming is odd and unusually rich, being of ivy berries and foliage combined with old rose roses and cornflowers and finished with velvet ribbon bows of same shape.

Another very attractive model is a medium-size shape, of leghorn straw, the crown being trimmed with pink maline with a drapery of rich white lace; a wreath of arbutus entwined in the lace falls gracefully off to the brim.

The collection of Millinery now on special display here is of unusual beauty and elegance. You will enjoy it.

Dress Goods Department.

Our assortment of wool and wash fabrics is the largest in this section and of the most recent creations. We are especially strong in white goods. We have them in the greatest profusion at prices 25 per cent. less than you can buy them elsewhere.
